

James Lind Alliance Meeting, 3 December 2005 - Taking patients' and clinicians' questions seriously about the effects of treatment seriously.

Abstract – Mark Fenton

The Database of Uncertainties of the Effects of Treatments (DUETs) is derived from the joint efforts of patients and clinicians to identify those treatments, or effects of treatments, about which there remains uncertainty. I will demonstrate the pilot database, which has been built through the joint efforts of Asthma UK, the British Thoracic Society and the Cochrane Airways Group.
